

Andrew M. Slavitt
Chief Executive Officer, Ingenix

Andy Slavitt is chief executive officer (CEO) of Ingenix. He joined Ingenix in 2005 as the chief operating officer. Slavitt previously served as CEO of the consumer solutions business at Ingenix's parent company, UnitedHealth Group, and held responsibility for consumer initiatives including consumer-driven health care, consumer portals, and initiatives to serve the uninsured.

Previously, Slavitt was founder and CEO of HealthAllies, one of the first consumer health care benefits companies, which was acquired by UnitedHealth Group in 2003. He continues to play a role in consumer access and transparency issues, both at UnitedHealth Group and in the health care industry.

Prior to founding HealthAllies, Slavitt served as chief operating officer and director of a venture-backed, and then public, employee benefits insurance company and one of the largest benefits distributors. Slavitt also worked as a strategy consultant with McKinsey & Company and as an investment banker with Goldman Sachs. He is a graduate of the Wharton School and The College of Arts & Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania, and the Harvard Business School.