

James R. Mault, MD, FACS
Director of New Products and Business Development
Health Solutions Group
Microsoft

James R. Mault, M.D., FACS, is the Director of New Products and Business Development for the Health Solutions Group at Microsoft. Dr. Mault has more than 30 years of experience in both clinical medicine and the medical device and health IT industry. He is board-certified in both General Surgery and Cardiothoracic Surgery, having specialized in heart and lung transplantation, thoracic oncology and critical care. He has conducted academic research under grant awards from National Institutes of Health and is the author of more than 100 scientific articles, chapters and books in the published medical literature. He is the inventor of dozens of patents for a variety of novel health information systems and has founded 5 medical technology companies. Dr. Mault holds a bachelor's degree in biology and a medical degree from the University of Michigan, and conducted his general surgery and cardiothoracic surgery residency training at Duke University Medical Center.